Cymatically Muffed takes place in a mysterious world. Our hero, Dustin, must protect a princess from the evil king. The journey requires solving puzzles, using special moves to fight enemies and mashing buttons in real time. Gameplay Cymatically Muffed is a top down view action platformer. At its core it's a side-scrolling platformer, however it also has several game modes. Available game modes are Classic, Proximity, Egg Attack, Survival, and Time Attack. Classic is pretty basic, it's just you as a single player trying to finish the levels as fast as you can. Proximity Mode is when you are dropped on a map with someone else and the only goal is to hit them with a projectile (like a rocket or spear) before they kill you. Egg Attack is a mode that is similar to Space Invaders, you're dropped on a map with another person and you must destroy their eggs while protecting your own. Survival Mode is similar to Ghostek's vazan game. You play as a single player and the objective is to get as far as possible, if you die, you start over at the beginning. Time Attack is exactly that, how fast can you get through the levels. There are many more game modes you can try. I have listed the ones that are available from the start. In Cymatically Muffed you have the ability to configure the game modes. Core Mechanics Cymatically Muffed has a few mechanics that set it apart from other platformers. In a nutshell, the core mechanic is having an over-powered projectile. In my case it's a spear. While playing the game, every time you collect a gold coin you can make a bomb. The bomb is actually a collection of gold coins. Once a bomb is active you can move that bomb around the level. To move a bomb, right click on it. If you click on a brick or an enemy, you will push them backwards. It can be hard to find the proper amount of gold coins to make a bomb, so I made a tool that helps you collect gold coins as you play. Once you reach a certain amount of gold coins, the bomb is ready to be detonated. When you right click on the bomb, you have two choices. You can either detonate the bomb, or deactivate the bomb. If you deactivate the bomb it will explode at the next enemy it comes in contact with. If the
