AutoCAD was designed by Brian Harry (1956-2018), who was one of the first employees of the Autodesk who also worked at the California Institute of Technology. Harry was the lead designer for AutoCAD, and is considered by many to be the father of the commercial CAD industry. Historically, the first released version of AutoCAD, known as Autodesk Project Server 1.0, was released in December 1982. AutoCAD is used by architects and engineers, CAD operators, marketers, and students. It has more than 750,000 users and 10,000,000 software licenses sold every year, and has been used to design or modify buildings, bridges, tunnels, vehicles, industrial machinery, bridges, ships, wind turbines, rockets, and aircraft. AutoCAD is used worldwide by professionals and students. The latest version is AutoCAD 2020, and it was announced in September 2019. Autodesk was acquired by 2.0 billion in 2013. It has operated as Autodesk since 2012. History 1980s In 1980, Autodesk, Inc. was founded by Brian Harry and Herb Karp as the first commercial CAD company. Karp and Harry had previously worked at the University of California, Berkeley's Computer Graphics Laboratory, where they developed the RenderX image-rendering software. AutoCAD was introduced in December 1982. In 1983, the company opened offices in Cambridge, England, and the staff grew to 25 people. In 1985, the company moved its headquarters to San Rafael, California. In 1984, the company held its first conference, the International Autodesk Conference, in San Francisco. This conference was intended to give users a chance to interact with the software and find out about developments. The first CAD software to integrate both drafting and design capabilities, like other desktop CAD programs of the time, was released in 1985. The main feature in this version was support for a mouse interface, allowing users to draw with the cursor. The object-drawing capabilities of the program were new and important. In 1986, the firm began to use the brand name "Autodesk". AutoCAD version 2 was released in 1987. In 1988, Autodesk Inc. became a privately held company, with shareholders of the firm taking up to 49% equity and debt of 51

Command hooks are the other concept, which makes it possible to create one's own commands without using the IDE. As of version 2009, AutoCAD supports 18 command hooks (sub-commands). AutoCAD supports versions 1 through 2015. The latest version is released as part of AutoCAD LT, which was released on April 19, 2018. Most add-on programs can be run from the Windows start menu. This is the message conveyed by an article published last week by Majid El Mokrani in New York Times. In a reflection on the reasons that force African urban planners to take a pause on the kind of development they have been pushing for, Majid puts the spotlight on the concept of metropolitan areas. "Now that cities have become the beating heart of the continent's economic dynamism, it's time to address the health and sustainability of urban conglomerations beyond the capital. Not only does that require building more, it also means thinking a little more, about how to take care of their residents," he argues. White House counselor Kellyanne Conway told MSNBC on Tuesday that the pair should have communicated in person during the first presidential debate instead of by text message. Conway, who reportedly exchanged texts with the former vice president during the debate, suggested that Biden was “not a good person” to mock for engaging in such a practice. Biden tweeted on Monday that he and his son had used a private text message app to communicate about their business dealings in Ukraine, and that he had made a mistake. “Was told by a friend it was normal practice,” Biden tweeted. “Yes, I am aware of that word, and I understand how it is being used, but I don’t believe that word accurately describes my relationship with my son.” He added: “I hope people will give me a chance to do this whole thing right, once we get beyond this.” Conway, asked by host Stephanie Ruhle if Biden had “committed a crime,” offered some mild praise of Biden’s apology: “Look, people make mistakes.” The GOP campaign’s senior communications adviser, Mercedes Schlapp, said in a subsequent interview that the GOP candidates “have a lot of regrets about their personal text messages.” “It’s the opposite of the truth,” she said. Schlapp said she did not know how much the Trump campaign had communicated by text, but said, “We’re talking about the vice president’s son who, according to what has been reported in the press, was doing business in China, and the vice president’s phone number has been used in that app and his son’s phone number has been used in that app, and for people to say we don’t understand how that’s a problem I think is embarrassing for them.” She told Ruhle that “the Chinese government was reportedly involved in the Biden’s son’s business dealings in China. That was reported.” “We talk about integrity, we talk about ethics, we talk about where the
