Life and style post on the subject is fairly straight forward and designed to be understood by anyone, but for the sake of having a more thought out description: I travel out to Newfoundland most years from the United Kingdom and spend about five or six months in Newfoundland. I have recently acquired land in the Gander/Cape St Mary's area on the East coast of Newfoundland. My land is in the vicinity of Gander, and in particular the airport, the lighthouse at Cape St Mary's and coastal towns such as Grand Lake, Stephenville, St. Barbe, Bay Bulls and Petty Harbour. I am a full time traveller, and will be spending a lot of time in Newfoundland and Labrador in the coming years. I like to spend time just driving up and down the East Coast, going to places such as Deer Lake, Trout River, Littleton and Hermitage, Barachois, picking up lobster on the way, and the different coastal fishing villages, and taking in the local wildlife (particularly foraging mammals and birds). My intention of showing this video to shows my Blog is to try and encourage people to get out to places like this and generally to get out and enjoy the outdoor life, and not just go to the nearest beach, restaurant and hotel. So on that note, here is my place in the world, and somewhere where the locals could say - to your face - that I am a tourist, and I am going to Canada to have a holiday with my money. If anyone travels to Newfoundland to travel in the same manner, or to be more precise - spend time walking around the coastal region, picking up lobster from places like Deer Lake, Trout River, Littleton, Little Harbour, wandering along the River Valley area, the footpath 6d1f23a050
