

November 6, 2560 BC – The Journey by Patricia Grace has the theme of change, powerlessness, frustration, responsibility and acceptance. Told in the third person, Journey, for which Patricia Grace won the Best Short Story Award, begins the sixth novel in the Seven Daughters of the Moon series. This is a story about how a girl turns into a woman, about life in the "Golden City", about the people she meets, about how her body becomes her temple and how she becomes a mother. In The Journey, Patricia Grace talks about how she got to where she is today, a woman who lives in
